2008 Missouri State Charter Schools Conference

Dr Richard Jung, October 17. 2008	Getting To a Critical Mass of High Quality Charter Schools: Lessons Learned from the Nation's Capital and Around the Nation
	This UMSL (B.A.-English)/Stanford (Ed.D.-Education Policy Analysis) graduate reflects –as a researcher, independent and charter school head, board member, and consultant --on lessons learned the past fifteen years from experiences in Washington, DC and across the nation addressing the question: “What can be learned from other cities’ charter experiences and leaders to develop high quality charter schools in Missouri?”
