

The CONGRESSIONAL SCHOOLS of VIRGINIA

The Board of Trustees of The Congressional Schools of Virginia offers greetings to all who read or hear this Proclamation.

Whereas The Congressional Schools of Virginia is an accredited, independent school from preschool through the eighth grade, located in Falls Church, Virginia, that for 70 years has educated children, appreciates the extraordinary dedication and extols the virtues of professional educators to our cause of preparing students to embrace their future opportunities and responsibilities as global citizens;

Further, it is widely known and appreciated that service to families and their children by brightening their futures is among the highest of callings and a foundation to the common good;

Hereby announce that The Board of Trustees, by unanimous vote conducted on Tuesday the Second of December 2008:

Offers to Dr. Richard K. Jung, Consultant, Partner with Education Access Strategies of Bethesda, Maryland, our sincerest and heartfelt gratitude for serving as the Head of School Search Advisor, Head of School Transition Committee Guide, and Strategic Planning Facilitator from April 2006 through November 2008;

Further, We proclaim that Wednesday the Tenth of December 2008 has been named
"Dick Jung Day"

at The Congressional Schools of Virginia, in appreciation of his extraordinary service to our School community, and Further that such tribute be reflected in the minutes of the organization and high recommendation be shared with all who inquire about the level of service and counsel provided.

As Witness we sign our names below and affix our seal:

Karen Moberley, President

Ramona Deal, Secretary

Jeffrey Englander, Vice President

Loraine Creely, Treasurer

William Devers, Founding Family

